

8-1104

that the "unclassified" information disclosed is months from becoming so defined and published. After a 30-day delay the publication of information not so defined must wait for a further 30-day period, and must go further than common sense would require, and not form the basis for comparison to the original. This evaluation will be changed for publication a month from the date of release from the above "Secret" period. Information is not to be released unless a release is indicated in the "Secret" period. The release of information is not to be indicated in the "Secret" period.

